September 11 – 18, 2019: The week when BrooklynDad_Defiant professes support for Pete Buttigieg and takes a swipe at Trump while urging Maine voters to end Senator Collins's political career, prompted by the reappearance of Justice Kavanaugh in the news (whom Collins voted to confirm).
1) Donald Trump

Remember Senator Susan Collins?

You know, the one who pretended to wring her hands over Brett Kavanaugh, before voting him in?

She’s the one who cast the DECIDING vote to steal Military funds for trump’s wall.

Please, Maine: END her political career.

2) Joe Biden

Somebody gotta say it: The overwhelming support for Joe Biden is based purely off fear that white folks won’t vote for anyone else on that stage. Because there is no way you see him in these moments and think he’s actually the best candidate.

He's easily the most experienced. To some of us that still matters

I like Joe and will vote for him if he's the nominee. But he's not my preferred candidate because a lot of his experience is at being wrong about stuff. IMO that matters too.

Just about every time I watch Elizabeth Warren speak, I have the following thought:

"I want to live in the country that has this woman as its President."

Honestly, as a Canadian I can't understand why any American opposes universal healthcare. It tells every citizen they will be cared for, no matter what. It isn't perfect but it's pretty damn good.

I hope everyone in America never forgets that Kamala Harris, Dianne Feinstein and Cory Booker tried to ruin Brett Kavanaugh’s life with slanderous lies.

The New York Times just snapped the voting citizens back into reality as to how far the left will go. Drain the swamp faster Mr President.

5) Bernie Sanders

Bernie Sanders just called for a complete ban on deportations

America has:

22 million illegal aliens

Up to 1 million new illegal aliens crossing this year alone

And he wants none of them to leave and all of them to have taxpayer-funded health insurance

Bernie is a disaster!

7) Pete Buttigieg

When I watch Mayor Pete Buttigieg speak, there’s something so calming and soothing in his demeanor.

It reminds me of a time when our President was well-spoken, caring, and competent.

This dude is GREAT.

I've been supporting Pete all along! He is such a smart guy. Calm demeanor. Great sense of humor. Has absolutely no dirt. He would make a great president. And loves our country and could get it back to where we are the pride of the world.

This is terrible.

8) Beto O’Rourke

Beto O’Rourke has influence the sale of rifles in America far more than any NRA member.

His utterances of taking away rifles just made me want to buy a few more & ammo.

These liberals don't get it. The more you threaten us. The more true patriots respond.

Who's with me?
