BASIC INFORMATION AND RESOURCES

Instructor
M. Robert Carr

Contact Information
Phone Number: +1-202-251-7755 (best to text first)
Email Address: bcarr@gwu.edu

Communication
I may be reached either by text or email. Text messages are usually answered quickly. Emails will be answered usually within 24-48 hours. Important: My email client sorts emails based on rules. Your gwu.edu domain name is already programmed into my system. If you use another email domain name/account, I may not see it. For critical communication please only use the gwu.edu domain.

I am available for meetings by appointment, preferably one hour before class.

Blackboard Site
A Blackboard course site has been set up for this course. Each student is expected to check the site throughout the semester, as Blackboard will be the primary venue for outside classroom communications between the instructors and the students. Students can access the course site at https://blackboard.gwu.edu. Support for Blackboard is available at 202-994-4948 or helpdesk.gwu.edu.

Academic Integrity
All members of the university community are expected to exhibit honesty and competence in their academic work. Students have a special responsibility to acquaint themselves with, and make use of, all proper procedures for doing research, writing papers, and taking exams. Members of the community will be presumed to be familiar with the proper academic procedures and will be held responsible for applying them. Deliberate failure to act in accordance with such procedures will be considered academic dishonesty. Academic dishonesty is defined as “cheating of any kind, including misrepresenting one’s own work, taking credit for the work of others without crediting them and without appropriate authorization, and the fabrication of information.” Acts of academic dishonesty are a legal, moral, and intellectual offense against the community and will be prosecuted through the proper university channels. The University Code of Academic Integrity can be found at https://studentconduct.gwu.edu.

\(^1\) Prior to 2016 the course title was Running & Ruling…. It took two years to make the change in the GW system!
Support for Students with Disabilities
GW's Disability Support Services (DSS) provides and coordinates accommodations and other services for students with a wide variety of disabilities, as well as those temporarily disabled by injury or illness. Accommodations are available through DSS to facilitate academic access for students with disabilities. Please notify your instructor if you require accommodations. Additional information is available at https://disabilitysupport.gwu.edu.

In the Event of an Emergency or Crisis during Class
If we experience some an emergency during class time, we will try to stay at this location until we hear that we can move about safely. If we have to leave here, we will meet in the parking lot whose entrance is SE of the intersection of North Capital and E St NE in order to account for everyone and to make certain that everyone is safe. Please refer to Campus Advisories for the latest information on the University’s operating status: http://www.campusadvisories.gwu.edu/.

Attendance Policy
Unless otherwise excused in advance, class attendance is mandatory. I expect to be notified via text (preferable) or email at least by the day of the class session. Punctuality is important as well. Similarly I expect to be notified via text if your arrival will be delayed. Finally, I will excuse the occasional early departure, if I am alerted in advance as to the cause.

Course Evaluation
At the end of the semester, students will be given the opportunity to evaluate the course through GW's online course evaluation system. It is very important that you take the time to complete an evaluation. Students are also encouraged to provide feedback throughout the course of the semester by contacting any/all of the following:

THE COURSE

Legislative Affairs Program Objectives
Upon completion of the Master’s degree in Legislative Affairs, students will:
1. Gain both theoretical and practical knowledge related to the U.S. Congress, general issues in the legislative arena, and how to effectively advance legislation;
2. Hone their oral and written communication skills in both theoretical and technical aspects of legislative affairs;
3. Be able to conduct cutting-edge research and engage in effective problem solving by learning critical thinking skills;
4. Learn how to work effectively with others, the value of collaborative work, and will understand ethical issues involved in the legislative arena.

Course Description and Overview
There are as many definitions of the job of a member of Congress as there are actors in the political process. Most of these definitions tend to be self-serving or at least agenda driven. They tend to affirm or deny that the subject member is meeting acceptable, accountability standards for job performance. In coming from a position or point of view these definitions easily obscure, if not totally ignore the real, practical job environment of a member of Congress. In short, helpful as these definitions try to be, they frequently are not.

This course takes a different approach to examining the job of a member of Congress. Most political analysts and commentators, indeed most academics, start with the member as elected. We will start at a much earlier stage with the decision to seek office. What conventional analysis often misses because they fail to ask, “how was the twig planted.” We will start at the very beginning. Then in the second half of the course we will dissect the many, varied roles that the job requires. We will try to put ourselves in the member’s shoes. From that perspective we will hopefully get closer to a better understanding of what the job requires in real, practical terms. And finally we will seek to assess and even improve on the standards for judging success both for the individual, representative democracy and the nation.

Course Learning Objectives
1. To gain the perspective and professionally empathize with of the job of seeking and becoming a member of Congress.
2. To be able to independently assess the conduct of candidates for and members of Congress as reported by others.
3. To better assist members of Congress in pursuit of the member’s goals.
4. To be in a position to help a member assess the risks and rewards of a course of action.
5. To offer advice and counsel to those who would undertake to become a member of Congress.

Course Requirements
- Students will be required to attend class discussions as well as occasional discussion board postings throughout the course. Students will be occasionally required to respond to postings of a peer.
- Student will be required to complete two major writing assignments. The first writing assignment is in the format of a journal describing the candidate experience. The second writing assignment will be in the format of a journal describing the officeholder experience.
- In addition, each student must submit up to six short, one page essays on discrete elements of running for and serving in Congress. The latter will not be graded and will synchronize with the two main papers required for the course.
- There will be a final, take-home exam.
