Communication
Individual meetings with the instructor must be pre-arranged appointments usually before or after class unless other arrangements are made. After class is usually best. Email is almost always the best way to communicate with me.

Blackboard Site
A Blackboard course site has been set up for this course. Each student is expected to check the site throughout the semester, as Blackboard will be the primary venue for outside classroom communications between the instructors and the students. Students can access the course site at https://blackboard.gwu.edu. Support for Blackboard is available at 202-994-4948 or helpdesk.gwu.edu.

Academic Integrity
All members of the university community are expected to exhibit honesty and competence in their academic work. Students have a special responsibility to acquaint themselves with, and make use of, all proper procedures for doing research, writing papers, and taking exams. Members of the community will be presumed to be familiar with the proper academic procedures and will be held responsible for applying them. Deliberate failure to act in accordance with such procedures will be considered academic dishonesty. Academic dishonesty is defined as “cheating of any kind, including misrepresenting one’s own work, taking credit for the work of others without crediting them and without appropriate authorization, and the fabrication of information.” Acts of academic dishonesty are a legal, moral, and intellectual offense against the community and will be prosecuted through the proper university channels. The University Code of Academic Integrity can be found at http://www.gwu.edu/~ntegrity/code.html.
Support for Students with Disabilities
GW’s Disability Support Services (DSS) provides and coordinates accommodations and other services for students with a wide variety of disabilities, as well as those temporarily disabled by injury or illness. Accommodations are available through DSS to facilitate academic access for students with disabilities. Please notify your instructor if you require accommodations. Additional information is available at www.gwu.edu/~dss.

In the Event of an Emergency or Crisis during Class
If we experience an emergency during class time, we will try to stay at this location until we hear that we can move about safely. If we have to leave here, we will meet at the lobby of the Hotel George in order to account for everyone and to make certain that everyone is safe. Please refer to Campus Advisories for the latest information on the University’s operating status: http://www.campusadvisories.gwu.edu/.

Attendance Policy
Most of us have full-time jobs and these responsibilities will sometime cause students to arrive late or miss class. When this happens you must email the instructor in advance. Absences from more than two classes during the term may result in a reduction in your final grade.

Course Evaluation
At the end of the semester, students will be given the opportunity to evaluate the course through GW’s online course evaluation system. It is very important that you take the time to complete an evaluation. Students are also encouraged to provide feedback throughout the course of the semester by contacting any/all of the following:

THE COURSE

Legislative Affairs Program Objectives
Upon completion of the Master’s degree in Legislative Affairs, students will:
1. Gain both theoretical and practical knowledge related to the U.S. Congress, general issues in the legislative arena, and how to effectively advance legislation;
2. Hone their oral and written communication skills in both theoretical and technical aspects of legislative affairs;
3. Be able to conduct cutting-edge research and engage in effective problem solving by learning critical thinking skills;
4. Learn how to work effectively with others, the value of collaborative work, and will understand ethical issues involved in the legislative arena.

Course Description and Overview
This course is a requirement for the Masters of Legislative Affairs program. The goal is for the student to develop a working understanding of how the Congress functions and what motivates its’ Members. The course will focus on the origins, history and development of Congress as an institution. We will examine what drives legislative decision-making, and the role of committees and party leadership in the process. The course will look at procedural issues essential to understanding how Congress works such as the Rules Committee in the House, cloture in the Senate, and the Budget Act of 1974. It is impossible to look at legislative politics without discussing the issue of polarization. The President plays a key role in the legislative process whether the country has united or divided government. Finally we will look at some of the internal issues Members deal with, from staff, budgets, constituent communications and ethics rules, to external issues such as campaigns, fundraising and interest group pressure.

Discussion will be an important part of this class. Contemporary issues facing the Congress will be used to illustrate what we learn.

There will be two essays assigned by the instructor, a mid-term examination and a final exam.

Course Learning Objectives
1. The goal is for the student to develop a working understanding of how the Congress functions and what motivates its’ Members. Additionally, the course will introduce the student to, and increase their enthusiasm for studying other topics in the Legislative Affairs program.
2. Understand the origins, history and development of Congress as an institution.
3. Obtain an understanding of what drives legislative decision-making, and the role of committees and party leadership in the process.
4. Understand why the Speaker has so much power in the House of Representatives.
5. Learn why the Senate rules are designed to protect the political minority, and how the present Majority Leader has changed the Senate.
6. Gain an appreciation for the role of the President as Legislator-in-Chief and how Congress has surrendered and delegated power to the executive branch.
7. Look at the budget and appropriation process – the one thing Congress must complete every year – and how the modern Congress makes (or doesn’t make) decisions.
8. Throughout the course we will focus on political polarization, how the modern form has developed, why it is so persistent and how it affects the legislative process. We will explore some ideas for reducing its negative effects.
9. Finally we will look at some of the internal issues Members deal with, from staff, budgets, constituent communications and ethics rules, to external issues such as campaigns, fundraising and interest group pressure.

Document Citations
There will be one essay, a case study, a take home mid-term and a take home final examination. All papers and exams will be submitted by email in Microsoft Word or Apple Pages format – do not submit in .pdf format.

We will use the Turabian Style for essays, citations and bibliographies. A sample of the style can be found on the GW website at: http://libguides.gwu.edu/content.php?pid=8881&sid=57345. I find the guide listed here to be the least confusing: http://www.libs.uga.edu/ref/turabian2009.pdf. As an additional guide for a legislative course, this link is an indispensable guide for citing government documents is the "Uncle Sam: Brief Guide to Citing Government Publications, from the University of Memphis: http://www.memphis.edu/govpub/citweb.php.

September 9, 2015
Week 1&2
Topic and Content Covered: Introduction and Syllabus Review and The Origins of Congress

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: Introductions and class overview. Review course expectations, assignments and final project. Introduce the subject matter

Why did the Constitutional Convention design our system as they did? What was the Great Compromise? What are the enumerated powers of Congress? The early Congress – no committees, no parties – no wonder it was the most productive Congress ever.

Reading Due Today: Remini: Introduction through Chapter 5.
Federalist Papers 10, 39, 47, 48 and 51
Caro: Master of the Senate Part I (available in Electronic Reserves)

September 16, 2015
Week 3
Topic and Content Covered: The Institutionalization of Congress

Reading Due Today: Remini: Chapters 11-12, 15, 17-18
Davidson: Chapter 2
Strand: Chapter 1

September 23, 2015
Week 4
Topic and Content Covered: Legislative Decision-Making

September 30, 2015
Week 5

Topic and Content Covered: Party Leadership

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: Who are the party leaders in the House and Senate? How do they control the process and direction of their chambers? What is conditional party government, the pivotal vote theory and agenda control? How do they compare? Is one better than the other? Which theory prevailed in the 113th Congress? Will there be any change in the 114th?

Reading Due Today: Davidson: Chapter 6
Three scholarly articles on party leadership available on class Blackboard site

Assignment(s) Due Today: Legislative Decision Making Essay

October 7, 2015
Week 6

Topic and Content Covered: Committees

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: What are committees and what function do they serve? Why do Members select different committees?

Reading Due Today: Davidson: Chapter 7
Oleszek: Chapter 3
Strand: Chapter 4-6
Select CRS Briefings available on class Blackboard site

October 14, 2015
Week 7

Topic and Content Covered: Critical Legislative Procedures in the House

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: House Rules Committee and Control of the Floor. The House as a majoritarian institution. Conflict between committees and party leaders. How does the Majority accomplish its agenda? What is the role of the Minority in the House? If possible, we will conduct this class in the U.S. Capitol at the House Rules Committee hearing room.

Reading Due Today: Oleszek: Chapters 4-5
Davidson: Chapter 8

October 21, 2015
Week 8
Topic and Content Covered: All you need to know about the Senate procedures

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: The Majority Leader and control of the Floor. Unanimous consent and exhaustion. Not your father’s filibuster: cloture – why the Senate requires 60 votes to do anything important. What is meant by “the Majority determines what comes to the Floor and the Minority determines what leaves it?” Why are Committees weaker in the Senate than in the House? What is the difference between the Minority in the House and the Senate? Majority obstructionism? What has Harry Reid done to the Senate?

Reading Due Today: Oleszek: Chapters 6-7

October 28, 2015
Week 9

Topic and Content Covered: The President and Congress

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: The President as Legislator-in-Chief. What is the President’s Constitutional role in the legislative process? What is his role in the budget process? United vs. Divided government. Vetoes and veto strategies. Other tools: Signing Statements and Executive Orders. Powers Congress cedes to the Executive. Oversight by the Congress over the Executive branch.

Reading Due Today: Davidson: Chapter 10
Oleszek: Chapter 8 & 9

November 4, 2015
Week 10

Topic and Content Covered: The Budget Act of 1974

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: The origins of the budget law. How it works. The use and abuse of the act. What is the role of the Budget Committee, Authorizers and Appropriators? Reconciliation. Does the budget act still work? Are there better ideas? Is the current process adequate to control the budget deficits we face in 2014?

Reading Due Today: Strand: Chapter 7
Oleszek: Chapter 2
Davidson: Pages 428-445
Three articles:
Wash. Post: Obama’s evolution: Behind the failed ‘grand bargain’ on the debt, March 17, 2012

Week 11

Topic and Content Covered: Polarization

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: Review the results of the 2014 mid-term election. Discuss polarization: its’ causes, the problems it is causing for governing, the solutions.

Reading Due Today: Strand: Chapter 16
Select papers available on class Blackboard site

Assignment(s) Due Today: Budget Case Study is due

November 18, 2015
Week 12

Topic and Content Covered: The Great Budget Debate

Learning Objective(s) Addressed: A group discussion will be held on the great budget debate, based on the previously assigned budget case study. Students will be assigned one of the four major players in the 2011 debt crisis and explain their individuals actions and motivations. We will review the motivations of the major players and what has changed in the 114th Congress.

Reading Due Today: Strand: Chapters 3, 8, 10, 11 & 14
Select papers available on class website
